Author of The Color of Law Richard Rothstein, explodes the myth that America's cities came to be racially divided as the result of individual prejudices, choices to live in same-race neighborhoods, income differences, or the actions of institutions like banks and real estate agencies. In The Color of Law Rothstein uncovers a forgotten history of how racially explicit policies created the patterns of segregation that persist to this day.

Richard Rothstein is a Distinguished Fellow at the Economic Policy Institute and the Haas Institute, both at the University of California, Berkeley. He is a senior fellow (emeritus) at the Thurgood Marshall Institute of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.
