

Student Hero, Community Health Track

Caitlin Pryce, MPH(c)

Caitlin grew up in the Santa Cruz Mountains and earned a BS in Health Sciences from UC Santa Cruz. She has worked as an EMT and a health care coordinator, and has discovered her passion for public health while assisting with a program that taught seniors how to use tablet computers. Caitlin loves hiking and camping, as well as playing violin when ever she can find the time. Currently she is serving as project coordinator for the Mare Island Health and Fitness Academy (MIHFA) Wellness Study and ENERGY Program, which aim to assess and improve the health of families at a local K-8 school by teaching the importance of healthy eating and exercise.
