ORISE Fellowship

ORISE Fellowship for one year that is renewable, and reports to the Director of External Engagement at the Office of the Surgeon General.

During the fellowship, the fellow will work with the director of external engagement to develop strategies for the Office of the Surgeon General (OSG) in partnership with the Office of Minority Health (OMH) related to community engagement and stakeholder relationship building. Activities include building partnerships based with organizations including but not limited to healthcare providers, faith, civic, communities of color, LGBT and communities of colors.

In addition, this fellowship assignment will include opportunity to create and manage public health campaigns relevant to constituency groups of the OSG. The fellow will provide support for staffing the Division of External Engagement and will be tasked with serving as a liaison between the OSG, OMH and OWH to collaborative on national initiatives.

The fellow will also assist in the oversight and management of the National Prevention Strategy on behalf of the OSG. Working directly with the Director of External Engagement, he/she will support the advancement of the goals of the National Prevention Council as well as the appointed Advisory group. These goals include successful integration of nutrition (vending) and tobacco policies throughout the council’s federal agencies by January, 2017. This fellow will have the ability to staff quarterly meetings, support the development of strategy webinars, develop health equity integration plans for the council and work closely with the CDC office of National Prevention Strategy.

Finally, the fellow will work closely with his/her mentor in researching trends in health equity and community prevention strategies to address the following OSG priority areas: healthy eating, active living, violence prevention, emotional well-being (mental health)

Please send your resume and cover letter to Shavon Arline-Bradley, Director of External Engagement at the Office of the US Surgeon General via email at Shavon.Arline-Bradley@hhs.gov